

PRONOUN

What is a pronoun ?

Pronouns are words that take the place of nouns. We often use them to avoid repeating the nouns that they refer to, like- he, she, it, they, etc.

Example :-

- I. Priya is a good girl. Priya is a teacher. Priya is preparing for UPSC.
- II. Priya is a good girl. She is a teacher. She is preparing for UPSC.

In the IInd example, we used the pronoun 'she' in place of 'Priya' to make the sentence shorter and to avoid repetition.

Kind of Pronouns :-

1. Personal Pronouns :- These are pronouns that are used for three persons(1st, 2nd, and 3rd).

Examples :- I, you, he, she, it, they, who, me, him, her, them, whom

2. Possessive Pronouns :- These pronouns are used to show possession.

Examples :- yours, mine, his, hers, ours, theirs, its.

3. Reflexive Pronouns :- These pronouns are used when subject and object are the same.

Examples :- myself, himself, herself, itself, yourself, ourselves, themselves.

4. Reciprocal Pronoun :- These pronouns are used when two or more people are carrying out an action of some type and both are receiving the consequence of it.

Examples :- each other, one another

5. Relative Pronouns :- The pronouns which are used to connect a clause or a phrase to a noun or pronoun.

Examples :- who, whom, whose, which, that.

6. Demonstrative Pronoun :- The pronouns used to point out any specific thing in a sentence.

Examples :- this, these, that, those

7. Distributive Pronouns :- These pronouns are used to consider members of a group separately rather than collectively.

Examples :- Each, every, either, neither, etc.

8. Interrogative Pronouns :- These pronouns are used to ask questions.

Examples :- who, whom, whose, which etc.

9. Indefinite pronouns :- Those pronouns which do not refer to any specific person, thing or amount are called indefinite pronouns.

Examples :- everybody, anybody, nobody, someone, one, no one, none, everything, anything, something, all, some, any, both, another, much, few, little, anyone, etc.

10. Emphatic pronouns :- These pronouns are used to lay stress on the subject.

Examples :- myself, yourself, yourselves, ourselves, herself, himself, oneself, itself, themselves.

First, Second and Third Person Forms of Personal Pronouns :-

Pronouns naturally are of three persons :-

(1) First-person - denoting the person speaking.

RULES FOR PRONOUNS :-

USE OF PERSONAL PRONOUN :-

RULE 1 :-

Nominative case:

Also called Subjective case

When a pronoun is used as the subject of a clause or sentence.

Objective case : When a pronoun is used as the object of a verb in a sentence.

Nominative case pronouns - I, we, you, she, he, it, they.

Objective case pronouns - Me, us, you, him, her, it, them.

Examples :-

- We went to the store today.
- She studied at Pinnacle.
- They are not very happy about what happened during the match.
- The dean nominated Neelima and me (not Neelima and I) to serve on the committee. (used as objective pronoun as it is a part of the object of the verb)
- He was looking at me (not I). (used as an objective pronoun as it is used after the preposition.)

RULE 2 :-

In those sentences where pronouns of different persons are used, there is a specific order to place them. When some pleasant or positive news is to be announced the speaker uses this order: 2nd person, 3rd person and 1st person, (i.e. 231) and when some unpleasant or negative news is to be announced or pronouns are used in plural form, use this order: 1st person, 2nd person and 3rd person, (i.e. 123)

Examples :-

- You, she and I have been commended for the success of the project. (231)
- You and he are the toppers of the class. (23)
- I, you, and she have been held responsible for the failure of the project. (123)

Note :- When the pronouns are plural then we have to follow 1st person, 2nd person, and 3rd person. (i.e. 123) order.

Example :-

- We, you and they should go to attend the seminar. (123)

RULE 3 :- (Comparing pronouns)

If we are comparing two nominatives/subjects then we have to use the nominative case of pronouns after as/than, and if we are comparing two objects, we should use the objective case of pronouns.

While making comparisons in pronouns, the pronouns compared should be of the same case. It means either both should be of the nominative pronouns or both should be objective pronouns.

Example :- Comparing two subjects:

- You are more beautiful than her. (Incorrect)
- You are more beautiful than she. (Correct)

Here, "you" and "her" are being compared. "You" is in the nominative case and "her" is in the objective case. So replace "her" with "she".

Comparing two objects :-

- The compliment was meant for you more than they. (Incorrect)
- The compliment was meant for you more than them. (correct)

RULE 4 :-

If a sentence begins with 'it' followed by is/was, the pronoun should be in subjective form.

Example :-

- It was them who funded your whole education. (Replace "them" with "they", as "them" is in the objective form.)
- It is me who will stand by through thick and thin. (Replace "me" with "I" as "me" is in the objective form.)

RULE 5 :- Usage of "It"

(a) "It" is used as a pronoun for: singular non-living things, infants, insects, animals.

Example :- Lalita has a lot of sugar but she will not give it to you.

(b) "They" is the plural form of "it".

Example :- Lions and peacocks are national animals. They are found in the forests.

(c) "It" is used to denote - weather, time, distance, temperature or any natural event. If "it" is used as an introductory subject, it has no meaning and is called empty "it".

Example :- It is 4 o'clock in the morning.

(d) "It" is used to introduce a clause/phrase.

Example :- It is an honorable thing to donate time and money.

(e) "It" is used in place of the gerund/infinitive clause.

Example :- It is said that honesty is the best policy.

(f) "It" is used to emphasize the noun/pronoun.

Example :- It is only the CBI who can solve this case.

(g) "It" is a pronoun and we never use any noun with it. While "this" can be used with a noun.

Example :- It is a study table and this book lying on it is mine.

RULE 6 :- An objective case comes after all the prepositions, let, like, but, except, between... and.

Example :-

- There is nothing between I and she. (incorrect)
- There is nothing between me and her. (correct)
- Let me go and talk to her.

USE OF REFLEXIVE PRONOUN :-

RULE 7 :-

When to use reflexive pronouns ?

When the subject and the object refer to the same person or thing, then we use -himself, herself, myself, yourself, etc.

Examples :-

- She looked at herself in the mirror.
- I can take care of myself.
- We enjoyed ourselves at the party.
- He considers himself a genius in mathematics.
- Arjun introduced himself to the interviewer.

RULE 8 :-

We use a reflexive pronoun after the following verbs.- Amuse/ avail/ acquit/ blame/ cut/ dry/ resign/ avenge/ exert/ apply/ adjust/ pride/ enjoy/ help/ hurt/ behave/ introduce/ kill/ adapt/ absent/ present/ reconcile/ enjoy/ prostate/ ingratiate/accustom.

Examples :-

- I wish the children would behave themselves.
- Would you like to help yourself to another drink?
- We should never pride ourselves on our achievements.
- We must avail ourselves of the calamity that arises in our life.

Do not use a reflexive pronoun after verbs which describe things people usually do for themselves- qualify, wash, shave, dress, hide, rest, stop, turn, move, bathe, keep, feel, relax, concentrate etc.

- He washed himself in cold water. (Incorrect; remove "himself")
- Let's hide ourselves in the forest. (Remove "ourselves")
- When I saw the police, I stopped myself. (Remove "myself")

USE OF EMPHATIC PRONOUN :-

Emphatic pronouns are used to lay stress on the doer of an action. These are :- myself, ourselves, yourself, yourselves, himself, herself, itself, themselves. Emphatic pronoun is used immediately after the noun it refers to.

Examples :-

- The CEO himself will lead the presentation on the new project.
- The old clock itself began to chime unexpectedly at night.
- We ourselves need to find a solution to this problem.

USE OF RECIPROCAL PRONOUN :-

RULE 9 :- (Each other and one another)

- Use "each other" when referring to two persons or things.
- Use "one another" when referring to more than two persons or things.
- Each other refers to two, one another refers to more than two.

Examples :-

- The newly married couple danced with each other at the party.
- After attempting the SSC CGL Tier-1 Exam, the students discussed the paper with one another.
- Her parents love and respect each other.
- Being classmates, we all support one another.

USE OF DEMONSTRATIVE PRONOUN :-

RULE 10 :-

1. To avoid the repetition of a singular noun in a sentence "that of" is used.
2. To avoid the repetition of a plural noun in a sentence "those of" is used.

Examples :-

- The population of China was more than the population of India.
- The population of China was more than that of India.
- The students of Pinnacle are better than the students of any other centre.
- The students of Pinnacle are better than those of any other centre.

RULE 11 :- Use of this, these, that and those:-

'This' is used for a single person/thing which is near, whereas 'These' is used for more than one person/ thing which is near.

Examples :-

- This is a book.
- These are the books you needed.

'That' is used for a single person/thing which is far whereas 'Those' is used for more than one person/ thing which is far.

Example :-

- That is a book.
- Those are the books that will help you improve your vocabulary.

USE OF RELATIVE PRONOUN :-RULE 12 :-

Relative pronouns are used to tell us more about a person or thing- who, whom, that, which, whose are used as relative pronouns. Antecedent is the noun or pronoun about which additional information is being given.

Examples :-

- The chair, which is broken, can't be used now. ('the chair' is the antecedent)
- I appreciate the manager, who has always supported me. ('the manager' is the antecedent)
- Sheetal has gone through all the poems of Milton who was a great poet. ('Milton' is the antecedent)
- It is I who am responsible for the poor condition of this room. ('I' is the antecedent)

"Who" and "whom" are used for persons.

"Who" is used as a subject while "whom" is used as an object.

Compound relative pronouns of 'who' and 'whom' are "whoever", "whosoever", "whomever" and "whomsoever". In the case of compound relative pronouns, no antecedent is used and always a singular verb is used.

Examples :-

- He is the man whom the police arrested last night.
- Mrs. Gupta, who works as a clerk in my office, is on leave today.
- Whoever has the power and pelf can dance with me.
- I want to meet whomever you want to marry.

Use "which" or "that" when we talk about things.

Example :- This is the watch which my husband bought for me.

Note :- 'That' is used for a person also.

Example :- He is the teacher that inspired me to pursue a career in science.

Use "whose" to show possession.

Examples :-

- Ravi, whose car met with an accident last night, is my brother's friend.
- The girl whose bag was stolen came here to meet you.

RULE 13 :-

"That" is used if the antecedent is a person and superlative degree is used. It can be used as a subject as well as an object.

Examples :-

- The most beautiful woman that I have ever met is my mother.
- Mrs. Gupta is the most efficient teacher that teaches mathematics to the senior section.

RULE 14 :-

If "all" is used for persons the relative pronoun will be "who". If "all" is used for things the relative pronoun will be "that". (Do not use "whom" and "which")

Examples :-

- All who are appearing for the exam on Sunday should inform the principal right now.
- All that appears before the eyes need not necessarily be true.
- All that they did for the marriage preparations were wasted due to the rain.

RULE 15 :-

Relative pronoun “that” is used with everything, nothing, something, the only, any, all, everyone, none, no, nobody, much, the same, little, the few etc.

Examples :-

- There is none that can help you now.
- You are the only girl that can be trusted.
- We should not waste much time on something that is hard to understand.

RULE 16 :-

“That” is used if the two antecedents are joined by the ‘and’ and one of them is used for the person and the other one is for the animal/thing.

Example :- The woman and her cat that I saw yesterday have been kidnapped.

RULE 17 :- ‘the same + noun’ is followed by ‘that’ when the verb is mentioned.

Example :- This is the same cap that I bought yesterday.

RULE FOR POSSESSIVE PRONOUNS :-

RULE 18 :- Mine, ours, yours, his, hers, theirs and its are possessive pronouns. These are never used directly before the noun.

Example :- The book that you are reading is mine. (Here, ‘mine’ has been used after ‘the book’)

RULE 19 :-

A possessive adjective is used before a noun directly: My, our, your, his, her, their, its are possessive adjectives. “His” is used as a possessive pronoun as well as possessive adjective.

Example :- This is my pen.

RULE 20 :- Do not use an apostrophe with possessive Pronouns.

Example :- your’s, her’s etc.

It’s is the short form of ‘It is’. And, its is a possessive pronoun.

Examples :-

- It’s no use talking about him. (Here, It’s is a contraction for “It is”)
- It’s been raining for two hours. (Here, It’s is a contraction for “It has”)
- The dog was wagging its tail after seeing the food. (Its is a possessive used for ‘the dog’)

RULE 21 :- Possessive adjectives are used before nouns, not possessive pronouns.

Possessive adjectives: my/ our/ your/ his/ her/ its/ their

Possessive pronouns: mine/ ours/ yours/ his/ hers/ theirs/its

Example :-

- Mine office is near Pinnacle. (Incorrect)
- My office is near Pinnacle. (Correct)

RULE 22 :- Possessive pronouns are not used with:- “leave/ excuse/ mention/ report/ separation/ sight/ pardon/ favour”.

Examples :-

- Your excuse is unacceptable (incorrect)
- The excuse given by you is unacceptable. (correct)
- His separation is hurtful to me. (incorrect)
- Separation from him is hurtful to me. (correct)

USE OF INDEFINITE PRONOUNS :-RULE 23 :-

If “one” is used as the subject of the sentence then one’s and oneself will be used in the sentence and not him and himself.

Example :-

- One should obey his parents. (Incorrect)
One should obey one's parents. (Correct)

USE OF INTERROGATIVE PRONOUNS :-

RULE 24 :- 'Whose' is used to ask about the person who owns something. It is used for a possessive pronoun.

Examples :-

- Whose is this book lying on my desk? (Answer: This book lying on your desk is his/hers/theirs)
- Whose is that car which is blocking the path?

RULE 25 :-

Clearing the concept of who and whom.

(a) 'Who' is used for the subject of a sentence. It is used to enquire about the identity(usually name) of a person who has done something.

Examples :-

- Who is teaching the children?
- Who painted the door black?
- Who attended all the classes at Pinnacle regularly?

(b) 'Whom' should be used for the object of a verb or preposition. It is used when you are referring to someone that is receiving a thing or an action.

Examples :-

- To whom is the letter addressed?
- For whom was the cake ordered?
- Whom did you find in the dark room?
- Whom did you gift a necklace on the eve of new year?

RULE 26 :- 'Which' is used to select from two or more than two things.

Examples :-

- Which is your car in the parking lot ?
- Which is the tallest building in the world ?
- Which is your favourite dish that is prepared in this restaurant ?

USE OF DISTRIBUTIVE PRONOUNS :-RULE 27 :-

We use "each" to refer to individual things in a group or a list of two or more things. "Each" is used for definite number or quantity and can act as a pronoun as well as an adjective. It is often similar in meaning to "every", but we use "every" to refer to a group or list of three or more things. It talks about all in general. It is used for an indefinite number or quantity and acts as an adjective only.

Note :- With the words like practically, almost, nearly , the pronoun "every" is used.

Examples :-

- Each cigarette we smoke is injurious to our health.
- Each of you is well mannered.
- Practically, every part of the coconut tree is used.

RULE 28 :-

'Either' means one or the other of two people or things. And only singular verbs are used with either.

Examples :-

- Either of the two athletes is a footballer. (not 'are footballers')
- Either of the two boys is present today. (not 'are present')

Neither means 'not the one nor the other' of two people or things. Likewise, only singular verbs are used in its expression.

Examples :-

TG-@freepdfhall

- Neither of the athletes is a footballer (not 'were footballers')
- Neither of the students was studious. (not 'were studious')

RULE 29 :- Difference between "Either/Neither" and "All/Both"

1. When we talk about two people/things, we can use both, "Both", "Either" and "Neither". With 'Both', we use "plural verb" and with "Either/Neither", we use "singular verb".

Examples :-

- Both the boys are playing.
- Neither of the chairs is broken.
- I don't think either of the girls is beautiful.

2. "Both" is not used in a negative sense.

Examples :-

- Both of them are not going. (Incorrect: Ambiguous Statement - Is one of them not going or Neither of them going)
- Neither of them is going. (Correct)

Note :- "Both" is used for exactly two people or things, whereas "All" is used for more than two people or things.

Examples :-

- All of the two friends went for the picnic. (Incorrect)
- Both the friends went for the picnic. (Correct)
- All the friends went for the picnic. (Correct)

Answers with Explanations :-

- Sol.1.(a) Replace "don't think either" with "think neither". Use of 'either' is ambiguous in this case. It is not clear whether one answer is wrong or both answers are wrong. 'Neither' means none of the two answers is correct.
- Sol. 2.(a) Replace "all of" with "both". As "all" is used for more than two and "twins" means pair.
- Sol. 3.(a) Add herself after "hurts". We use a reflexive pronoun with "hurt".
- Sol. 4.(b) Replace "it" with "them". The plural pronoun will be used with the plural noun "books".
- Sol. 5.(a) Add "themselves" after "praised." A reflexive pronoun is used with the verb 'praise'.
- Sol.6.(b) Replace "which" with "whose". 'whose/who' is used for living things; while 'which' is used for non-living things.
- Sol.7.(b) Replace "their" with 'its'. Here, we are talking about "company" which is singular. Thus, the singular pronoun 'its' will be used.
- Sol.8.(b) 'Than that of' should be in place of 'than'. Here comparison is between the scenery of two places. So to avoid repetition of a singular noun 'that of' is used.
- Sol.9.(d) No error.
- Sol.10.(d) no error. The reflexive pronoun is used with the verb "resign".
- Sol.11.(b) Replace "who" with "whom". "whom" is used to refer to the object of a verb/preposition.
- Sol.12.(b) Replace "myself" with "ourselves". "Ourselves" is used as the reflexive pronoun for any two or three persons including the first person.
- Sol.13.(c) Replace "his" with "their". "Their" will be used to match the pronoun 'they'.
- Sol.14.(a) Replace "whom" with "who". "Who" is used to refer to the subject of a sentence.

- Sol.15.(b) Replace "which" with "whom". "Which" is used for non living things, while "whom" is used for living things.
- Sol.16.(b) Replace "himself" with "themselves". For the plural subject "animals", themselves will be used.
- Sol.17.(b) Add "himself" after the verb "amused". As the verb "amuse" always takes a reflexive pronoun with it.
- Sol.18.(d) no error.
- Sol.19.(a) Replace "him and her" by "he and she". 'He' and 'she' are used as the subjects of a sentence.
- Sol.20.(b) Replace "his" by "their". "Their" will be used for the collective noun "team" to highlight the hard word of each individual.
- Sol.21.(a) Replace "he, you and I" with "you, he and I". When some pleasant news is to be announced, pronouns are used in the order of 2nd person, 3rd person and 1st person.(i.e. 231).
- Sol.22.(a) Replace 'they, you and we' with "we, you and they". In the case of plural pronouns, pronouns are used in the order of 1st person, 2nd person and 3rd person.(i.e. 123).
- Sol.23.(b) Replace "of which" with "whose". "Whose" is used for living things.
- Sol.24.(b) Replace "their" with "his". Indefinite pronouns like somebody, nobody, noone, anyone, everybody, everyone takes pronouns according to "he". Hence, "his" is the best choice.
- Sol.25.(c) Replace "his" with "one's". If "one" is used as the subject of the sentence, one's will be used as the possessive adjective.
- Sol.26.(c) Replace "your separation" with "separation from you". Possessive adjective is not used with "separation".
- Sol.27.(b) Replace "his" with "their". "The brave" means the whole community of brave people so plural pronoun "their" will be used.
- Sol.28.(b) Replace "herself" with "themselves". For "parents" a plural pronoun will be used.
- Sol.29.(b) Remove "and". We don't use any conjunction between antecedent and relative pronoun.
- Sol.30.(c) Replace "that" with "which". 'Which' is used for a non-essential clause and 'that' for essential clause. A non-essential clause provides additional information.
- Sol.31.(a) Replace "whom" with "those whom". In case of "mainly/chiefly/ particularly/ including/ specially/ especially", always use "that or those" with the relative pronoun as per need.
- Sol.32.(d) no error.
- Sol.33.(c) Replace "that" with "as". When "the same" appears as a noun or noun equivalent, "as" is used.
- Sol.34.(b) Replace "but which" with "which". We don't use any conjunction between antecedent and relative pronoun.
- Sol.35.(c) Replace "their" with "her". With "many + a /an + noun" the pronoun is used according to "he/ she/ it".
- Sol.36.(c) Replace "your leave" with "leave of you". Possessive adjective is not used with "leave".
- Sol.37.(b) Replace "one" with "ones". As there are many books, the plural form "ones" will be used.
- Sol.38.(d) no error.
- Sol.39.(c) Replace "my" with "mine". Possessive pronoun is used when the noun is used separately. Possessive pronoun is used together with the noun.
- Sol.40.(b) Replace "their" with "his". Always a singular pronoun is used with "neither".
- Sol.41.(b) Replace 'his' with 'their'. When two singular nouns are joined by 'and' refer two different persons the pronoun used for them should be 'plural'.
- Sol.42.(c) Replace "that" with "them". The objective plural pronoun "them" will be used for belongings.

- Sol.43.(b) Add "herself" after "remind". The verb "remind" takes a reflexive pronoun with it when there is no object with it.
- Sol.44.(d) Replace 'I' with 'me'. After the word 'let', pronouns are always used in objective case.
- Sol.45.(b) Replace "herself" with "himself". The reflexive pronoun of him is "himself".
- Sol.46.(b) Replace "herself" with "himself". The verb "adjust" takes a reflexive pronoun with it and the reflexive pronoun of "he" is himself.
- Sol.47.(c) Replace "one another" with "each other". For two persons, 'each other' is used instead of 'one another'.
- Sol.48.(a) Remove "that". We don't use any conjunction between antecedent and helping verb.
- Sol.49.(c) Replace her's with hers. To show possession, her's will be used.
- Sol.50.(c) Replace either with 'any'. As "either" is used for two persons or things and 'any' is used for more than two persons or things.
- Sol.51.(b) No error.
- Sol.52.(b) Replace "hers" with "his". In case of a common gender person, we use a masculine pronoun or adjective.
- Sol.53.(a) Replace "You, I and Deepak" with "I, you and Deepak". When some unpleasant news is to be announced, pronouns are used in the order of 1st person, 2nd person and 3rd person.(i.e. 123).
- Sol.54.(b) Replace "both of them could not" with "neither of them could". 'Both' is not used in negative sentences.
- Sol.55.(a) Replace 'his' with one's. If "one" is used as the subject of the sentence, one's will be used in the sentence instead of 'his / him'.
- Sol.56.(b) Remove 'she'. We do not use a pronoun together with the noun it refers to.
- Sol.57.(c) Replace "my" with "mine". We use a possessive pronoun when the noun(the book) is used separately.
- Sol.58.(c) Use "those of" before Dan Brown. Comparison is made between the same type of entities. We need to use 'those of' to refer to the books of Dan Brown.
- Sol.59.(c) Replace "her" with "she". While making comparisons in pronouns, the pronouns compared should be of the same case.
- Sol.60.(b) Replace "who" with "which". We have to choose one among many employees, so "which" will be used.
- Sol.61.(b) Replace "who" with "whom". We use an objective case pronoun after any preposition.
- Sol.62.(d) no error.
- Sol.63.(c) Replace "who" with "that". Use "that" when we talk about both people and things.
- Sol.64.(b) Replace "she" with "her". An objective case comes after all the prepositions.
- Sol.65.(a) Replace "you" with "yourself". The verb 'blame' takes a reflexive pronoun when there is no object after it.
- Sol.66.(c) Replace "herself" with "her". Reflexive pronouns, such as "herself," are used when the subject and the object of the verb are the same person. Here, the subject is "she," and the object is "her goals".
- Sol.67.(a) Replace "her" with "herself". Reflexive pronouns, such as "herself," are used when the subject and the object of the verb are the same person.
- Sol.68.(b) Replace 'me' with 'I'. A subjective pronoun is used before a relative pronoun.
- Sol.69.(b) Replace "those" with "they". A subjective pronoun is used as the subject of a clause or sentence.
- Sol.70.(a) Replace "me" with "I". In a compound subject, the subjective form of the pronoun should be used.
- Sol.71.(a) Replace "once" with one's. The plural form of 'one' is 'ones' and to show possession, one's is used.

Sol.72.(a) Add "herself" after "absented". The verb 'absent' always takes a reflexive pronoun with it.

Sol.73.(a) Replace "every" with "each". 'Every of' is not the correct term. Either it should be 'everyone' or 'each of'.

Sol.74.(b) Replace 'he' with 'it'. We use pronoun 'it' for human baby, animals, non-living things.

Sol.75.(b) Replace "their" with "his". "Everybody" takes a singular pronoun.

Sol.76.(d) no error.

Sol.77.(a) Replace "she" with "her". Here, we need the object of the verb "asked", so the objective case "her" will be used.

Sol.78.(b) 'herself' will be removed. We do not use reflexive pronoun with the verb 'bathe'.

Sol.79.(b) Replace "one another" with "each other". For two persons, each other is used.

Sol.80.(a) Replace "what" with "which". For selection "which" is used.

Sol.81.(a) Replace "his" with "one's" as the subject is "one".

Rule : If "one" is used as the subject of the sentence then one's and oneself will be used in the sentence and not him and himself.

Sol.82.(a) Replace "who" with "whom".

Rule : "whom" is used to refer to the object of a verb/preposition.

Sol.83.(c) Eliminate "three" as either is used for two things/persons only.

Sol.84.(d) no error.

Sol.85.(b) Eliminate "he" from part (b). If a person's name is given followed by a brief phrase giving some additional information about him then the pronoun will not follow such information.

Sol.86.(a) With "both", "not" is not used. So, eliminate "not". The correct sentence is - Neither of them will refute the charges.

Rule : We never use 'both' and 'not' together. When we talk about two things, we use: both/either/neither etc.

Sol.87.(d) no error.

Sol.88.(d) no error.

Sol.89.(b) "The formation of which" will replace "whose formation"

Rule : 'whose' is used for living things; while 'which' is used for non-living things and to make a choice between two or more.

Sol.90.(b) Replace "who" with "which". We have to choose one between the two so "which" will be used.

Sol.91.(c) Replace "I" with "me". "Let" is followed by the objective pronoun and not subjective pronoun.

Rule : An objective case comes after : all prepositions, let, like, but, except, between... and. let, like, but, except, between... and.

Sol.92.(c) The subject is singular (Newly formed Party), so "its" will be used. Replace "their" with "its".

Sol.93.(d) no error.

Sol.94.(b) Replace "which" with "that". There is no choice so "which" can't be used.

Rule : Use "which" or "that" when we talk about things (but not people).

Sol.95.(b) Eliminate "he" from part (b). If a person's name is given followed by a brief phrase giving some additional information about him then the pronoun will not follow such information.

Sol.96.(b) Replace "he" with "one". The subject is "one" so one/one's and oneself can only be used. He/him will not be used.

Sol.97.(d) no error

Sol.98. (c) Replace "his" with "one's".

Rule : If "one" is used as the subject of the sentence then one's and oneself will be used in the sentence and not him and himself.

Sol.99.(d) no error

Sol.100.(a) Replace "its" with "their". Here, we are talking about 'they' which is plural. Thus, the plural pronoun 'their' will be used.

Sol.101.(b) Replace "its" with "their" as the subject is plural. 'Developed and developing countries' represent plural nouns, thus, plural verb 'their' will be used.

Sol.102.(a) Replace "John, I and Hari" with "John, Hari and I".

Rule : In those sentences where pronouns of different persons are used there is a specific order to place them. When some pleasant news is to be announced the speaker uses this order: 2nd person, 3rd person and 1st person, and when some unpleasant news is to be announced or pronouns are used in plural form, use this order: 1st person, 2nd person and 3rd person.

Sol.103.(a) Replace "whom" with "which".

Rule : 'whose' is used for living things; while 'which' is used for non-living things and to make a choice between two or more.

Sol.104.(c) Replace "your" with "yours". A pronoun is to be used and not an adjective.

Rule : While making comparisons in pronouns, the pronouns compared should be of the same case. It means either both should be of the nominative pronouns or both should be objective pronouns.

Sol.105.(c) Replace "to cook" by "how to cook".

Sol.106.(b) Replace "their" with "his". "Neither of" is followed by a plural noun/pronoun but the verb and pronoun used is singular.

Sol.107.(a) Replace "which" with "who" as the subject is a human.

Rule : "Who" and "whom" is used for persons.

Sol.108.(b) "Five lazy one" is incorrect. Replace it with "five lazy ones". For singular countable nouns; 'one' is used as a demonstrative pronoun. While for plural countable nouns; 'ones' is used as a demonstrative pronoun.

Sol.109.(d) no error.

Sol.110.(c) Replace "has" with "have". "None" is being referred to as books here which is plural. So, "have" will be used.

Sol.111.(d) The subject is "This bird" which is singular. So, "its" will be used in place of "their".

Sol.112.(b) Use "who" after "those". Here, "those" is an object and a relative pronoun is used to connect two sentences: "I don't appreciate those" and "laugh at others without any apparent reason". Therefore, "who" will be used as a relative pronoun.

Sol.113.(b) Use "his" instead of "their". "Neither of" is followed by a plural noun or pronoun. But the verb and pronoun used in the latter part of the sentence is singular.

Sol.114.(d) no error.

Sol.115.(b) Replace "its" by "their". Here, the subject is "the ladies". Thus, the pronoun used will be "their", not "its".

Sol.116.(c) Replace "its" with "their" as the subject is "these schools".

Sol.117.(a) Replace "their" with the relative pronoun "its".

Sol.118.(c) Replace "each other" by "one another". Use "each other" when referring to two things. Use "one another" when referring to three or more things.

Sol.119.(d) no error.

Sol.120.(b) Replace "me" with "I". While making comparisons in pronouns the pronouns compared should be of the same case. It means either both should be of the nominative pronouns or both should be objective pronouns.
